

The best food and drink in London, reviewed anonymously by experts

Search Restaurants & cafes All reviews All areas (London) Restaurant categories Search

Eating and Drinking Awards 2010

The winners announced (Plus full details for the entire shortlist)

Eating and Drinking
Awards 2010

Worlds ★★★★★
Popsicle ★★★★★
Dishoom ★★★★★

Most viewed restaurants

1. Popsicle
2. Wix
3. One Nagasaki

Runners up

RUNNER UP: Dishoom

★★★★★

Covent Garden, WC2

Emulating the busy 'iran'i' cafes of 1960s Bombay, Dishoom recreates their informal atmosphere and urban Indian snack foods from breakfast until late. Taking points are the fascinating display of old magazine covers, nostalgic adverts and fading photos of well-to-do Indian families which adorn the walls. The toilets provide more entertainment in the form of display cabinets above the toilets stocked with old-school pharmaceuticals.

RUNNER UP: Zecca

★★★★★

Beaconsfield, SE1

The interior of this contemporary Italian restaurant perfectly matches its menu: light, fresh, and simple. Decor sticks to a limited palette: White, stainless steel and neutrals. There are carefully placed spots of intense colour, such as the deep orange gerbers on the tables, and drama is added by the show kitchen on one side.

RUNNER UP: The Luxe

★★★★★

Spitalfields, E1

Luxe by name and luxe by nature. United Designers have brought iconic chairs and sumptuous materials to Spitalfields' Grade II-listed Old Flower Market building. The bustling ground floor cafe is subtly industrial, while the basement bar is studiously dark and moody. Meanwhile the notoriously pricey upper-floor dining rooms indulge in no-holds-barred sophistication, right down to the floral patterned china is a nod to the building's original use. Smart, sensitive and stylish.

ENER

TimeOut

London